

Elliott River

Just west of Marengo, on the Great Ocean Road, there is a turn off to the south, which takes you to the Elliott River Picnic Area car park near the mouth of Elliott River, at the north end of Blanket Bay. Follow the track from the car park to the mouth of the river and gain access to the rugged coastline. The view is spectacular.

One bone has been found at this site – a well preserved ornithomimid dentary, part of the lower jaw from a plant-eating dinosaur.

Image: View of the coast line from the path leading down to the mouth of Elliott River.
Photographer: Lesley Kool

Reference:

D. Stone, G. Dunnett and D. Stone. "Explore The Great Ocean Road – Geelong to Mt. Gambier". See Australia Guides Pty.Ltd. 1991